EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Due to an increase in population and in funding for law enforcement, Arizona processed a high volume of cases through its court system during the 1990s. Senate Bill 1013, later known as the Fill the Gap (FTG) legislation, was enacted in 1999 to reduce case processing times throughout the state. Senate Bill 1013 provided funds specifically to county attorneys, indigent defense agencies, and the superior courts.

The Arizona Criminal Justice Commission (ACJC) is responsible for administering the State Aid to County Attorneys Fund and State Aid to Indigent Defense Fund. The ACJC distributes these monies to each county annually according to formulas established in the Arizona Revised Statutes (A.R.S. §41- 2409). The ACJC also annually reports on fund expenditures and improvements in criminal case processing time in the state.

Criminal case processing standards are established by Arizona Supreme Court Rule 8.2, requiring that criminal cases (excluding capital cases and complex cases) reach adjudication within 180 days of arraignment for out of custody defendants, and 150 days for in-custody defendants. Exceptions to this rule include cases experiencing delays due to the following:

- 1) lengthy trial preparations
- 2) the determination of a defendant's mental competency or disability
- 3) an absent or incompetent defendant
- 4) probable cause remanding
- 5) disclosure time extensions
- 6) trial calendar congestion
- 7) a joinder of trials with another defendant
- 8) setting a transfer hearing
- 9) the inability to take the accused into custody (see Appendix G).

If cases experience delays for any of the above reasons, the initial countdown to adjudication may be suspended and then resumed when the circumstances leading to delay are resolved.

Due to ongoing changes in general funding, State Aid to Indigent Defense funds were redirected to the Attorney General budget to fund capital post-conviction prosecutions and were redirected to the Department of Public Safety (DPS) for operational costs associated with the Arizona Counter Terrorism Information Center. As a result of these adjustments to the State FTG funding, indigent defense agencies did not receive monies from the State FTG fund. County attorneys were the only agencies to receive funds in FY2019 totaling $790,565. The monies allocated to county attorneys during the fiscal year were less than the projected appropriation due to a decrease in fine, fee, and surcharge revenues received from the Criminal Justice Enhancement Fund (CJEF).

According to information provided by county attorney offices, a total of $1,033,091.32 was expended during FY2019 on the following: salaries, fringe benefits, and overtime ($932,780.55); travel ($2,082.80); operating cost and supplies ($1,843.58); case management software ($11,461.54); Equipment purchases (7,103.08) and other expenses such as maintenance fees for equipment ($77,819.77). The total amount expended during FY2019 is more than the total amount allocated as most agencies began the fiscal year with a fund balance from previous allocations. County attorneys will carry over a balance of $424,097.17 into FY2019 due to unexpended funds.

In FY2017, changes in the report were made to only include information on the agencies that are being funded continually, so case processing statistics are available for the County Attorneys' agencies. Since no funding has been allocated to indigent defense agencies since FY2012, no information is provided.

Out of the fifteen agencies, one agency was unable to provide case processing statistics for FY2019 because its case management system does not track the requested information. Three agencies provided incomplete case processing statistics because their case management systems only track some of the requested information, while eleven agencies provided complete case processing statistics.

Eight of the fourteen agencies that provided case processing statistics reported an increase in the number of felony cases filed in FY2019. Of the agencies that provided statistics on the percentage of felony cases adjudicated within 180 days in both FY2018 and FY2019, eight reported a decrease in the percentage of felony cases that were adjudicated within 180 days. The 180 day marker was selected as the FTG reporting standard because this is the maximum case processing time allowed by the Supreme Court Rules of Criminal Procedures.

The increased number of felony cases adjudicated in many agencies underscore how critical Fill the Gap funds are to ensuring efficient case processing. Importantly, each county attorney's office self-reports their case processing results based on the information in their case management system. To the extent that agencies use different methods to calculate case processing time, the number of cases reported as processed within the 180 day standard set by the Arizona Supreme Court Rules of Criminal Procedure may be inflated.

Data from the Arizona Computerized Criminal History (ACCH) repository was used to perform an additional analysis of case processing times. However, the case processing standard used in this analysis differs from the time frames established by the Arizona Supreme Court because arraignment dates are not recorded in the ACCH. Case processing time is therefore defined as the time between the arrest date and the disposition date. According to the ACCH data, eight counties saw an increase in the percentage of felony cases processed within 180 days from arrest between FY2018 and FY2019. ACCH data was not used to analyze the number of cases processed within 150 days of arrest because of the inability to differentiate between in-custody and out of custody defendants. Nevertheless, the ACCH is a valuable resource for examining case processing trends because the data are regularly and systematically collected and recorded.

After assessing data from each county and the ACCH repository, the ACJC recommends the following to improve case processing times throughout the state:

- 1) If their current case management system is unable to do so, agencies should transfer to a system that has the ability to generate and track case processing statistics;
- 2) Agencies should continue to collaborate with other criminal justice entities and standardize data definitions so that statistics are comparable across agencies;
- 3) Additional resources should be allocated to fund indigent defense services; and
- 4) Agencies should develop strategies for submitting case processing information to statewide database systems to help ensure timely reporting of information.

INTRODUCTION

Arizona Senate Bill 1013, now known as State Fill the Gap (FTG) legislation, was passed into law in 1999. This bill was designed to address the increasing number of cases being processed through the court system by providing supporting funds to three stakeholders: county attorneys' offices, indigent defense agencies, and superior courts. In previous years, these stakeholders received State FTG funds from legislative appropriations and fine, fee, penalty, and surcharge revenues collected through the Criminal Justice Enhancement Fund (CJEF). In FY2011, legislative changes redirected state FTG funds from indigent defense agencies and superior courts to the Attorney General's Office to help fund capital post-conviction prosecution, and the Department of Public Safety (DPS) to offset operational costs associated with the Arizona Counter Terrorism Information Center. In FY2019, State FTG funds were again distributed from CJEF only to County Attorney agencies. These monies are distributed to each county based on an index computed from the county's current population and a three-year average of cases filed in each respective county's superior court (A.R.S. §41-2409).¹

As required by A.R.S. §41-2409, this report covers FY2019 State FTG program expenditures and any resulting improvements in case processing. While this report includes information about the State Aid to County Attorneys Fund and State Aid to Indigent Defense Fund, it does not cover the State Aid to Courts Fund as this account is not monitored by the ACJC. Information regarding the use of the State Aid to Courts Fund may be found in the Arizona Administrative Office of the Courts' (AOC) Fill the Gap Annual Report.

FILL THE GAP FUNDS LEGISLATION

Six Arizona Revised Statutes govern the collection, administration, and reporting of the State Fill the Gap funds: A.R.S. §11-539, A.R.S. §11-588, A.R.S. §12-102.02, A.R.S. §12-116.01, A.R.S. §41-2421, and A.R.S. §41-2409. These statutes provide financial support to counties for the purpose of improving criminal case processing times in the state. The six statutes are shown in their entirety in Appendix E.

A.R.S. §41-2421 states that "filing fees, including clerk fees, diversion fees, fines, penalties, surcharges, sanctions and forfeitures" collected by the Arizona Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals are allocated to create Fill the Gap funding according to the following formula:

- 21.61 percent to the State Aid to County Attorneys Fund;
- 20.53 percent to the State Aid to Indigent Defense Fund;
- 57.37 percent to the State Aid to the Courts Fund; and
- 0.49 percent to the Department of Law for the processing of criminal cases.

In A.R.S. §12-116.01.B, a seven percent surcharge is also collected by county courts. The surcharge is collected on the following: all fines, penalties, forfeitures relating to criminal offenses, traffic and vehicular violations, and game and fish Title 17 statute violations.

Funds from the seven percent surcharge are distributed to FTG accounts as follows (A.R.S. §41-2421):

- 15.44 percent to the State Aid to County Attorneys Fund;
- 14.66 percent to the State Aid to Indigent Defense Fund;
- 40.97 percent to the State Aid to the Courts Fund;
- 0.35 percent to the Department of Law for the processing of criminal cases;
- 14.29 percent to the Arizona Criminal Justice Commission for distribution to full service forensic crime laboratories; and
- 14.29 percent to the Arizona Supreme Court for allocation to the municipal courts.

The State Aid to the County Attorneys Fund and the State Aid to the Indigent Defense Fund are administered by the Arizona Criminal Justice Commission. The State Aid to the Courts Fund is administered by the Arizona Supreme Court. This report only provides data and information on the State Aid to the County Attorneys Fund and the State Aid to the Indigent Defense Fund.

In FY2019, the ACJC administered $790,565 from the State Aid to County Attorneys Fund. The total monies awarded to county attorneys were less than the projected appropriation for FY2019 due to a decrease in fine, fee, and surcharge revenues in the CJEF. The State Aid to Indigent Defense Fund did not receive funds due to the FY2011 legislative budget changes.

The State FTG funds administered by the ACJC are distributed according to the formulas established in A.R.S. §41-2409 (See Figure 1). Funds were distributed to the county attorneys based on each county’s three-year average of felony case filings and the county’s annual population as reported by the Arizona Department of Administration.²

³ The Composite Index is used as a county multiplier across Fill the Gap funds to determine county fund distribution.

ARIZONA CASE TIMELINES

The Arizona Supreme Court Rules of Criminal Procedures establish time limitations for case processing. Rule 8.2 states that with the exception of complex and capital cases, cases involving felony defendants held in-custody are given up to 150 days from arraignment to conclude, while cases involving out of custody felony defendants are given up to 180 days. All felony cases (except complex and capital) are expected to adhere to the standards set by the Arizona Supreme Court. Exceptions to this rule include cases that experience continuances due to exceptional circumstances where time calculations are temporarily suspended and then resumed when these circumstances are resolved. Reasons for granting continuances on cases include the following:

1. the determination of mental competency or disability of a defendant;
2. an absent or incompetent defendant;
3. probable cause remanding;
4. disclosure time extensions;
5. trial calendar congestion;
6. a joinder of trials with another defendant;
7. setting a transfer hearing; or
8. the inability to take the accused into custody.

For the FY2019 report, agencies were asked to report only the percentage of felony cases adjudicated within 180 days, regardless of custody type. The 180 day time frame was selected in accordance with the Arizona Rules of Criminal Procedure Rule 8.2 (see Appendix G).

RESEARCH METHODS

The Arizona Criminal Justice Commission's Statistical Analysis Center (SAC) used an annual reporting form and financial report to capture State FTG expenditures, case processing statistics, and any circumstances that improved or hindered case processing throughout the fiscal year. This form was developed by the SAC during the late 1990s and has undergone significant changes throughout the years. In FY2016, questions regarding potential causes for case continuances and the impact of FTG funding on agency operations were included to further assess factors influencing case processing. These changes were used again in the FY2017 forms, which were also expanded to ask about felony case processing times for in-custody felony defendants and out-of-custody felony defendants separately. Information from the reporting documents was compiled and analyzed to identify common spending priorities, funding balances, improvements to processing, and any challenges faced by the agencies within each county. However, the 2016 reporting form was again used for the FY2018 and FY2019 reports due to inconsistencies between agencies' reporting of felony cases filed in-custody and out-of-custody.

Readers should be aware that case processing statistics may vary across counties and between agencies within a county for reasons other than actual differences in case processing times. For example, agencies may differ in how they categorize a case as filed or adjudicated. Similarly, while some agencies start the case processing clock on the date of indictment, others may use the date in which an attorney is assigned to the case or the date of arraignment. In addition, many agencies across the state use unique case management systems to collect their case processing statistics. These systems may vary in how the requested information is calculated, while some may not collect the information at all. These factors greatly limit the standardization and comparison of case processing statistics across the state.

Arizona Computerized Criminal History (ACCH)

Data captured by law enforcement agencies are often not comparable across agencies, and in some cases, not comparable across years because of adjustments made to collection and reporting methods. For this reason, SAC staff analyzed county case processing times using adjudicated felony charges (excluding first-degree homicide charges) available in the Arizona Computerized Criminal History (ACCH) repository, maintained by the Arizona Department of Public Safety (DPS). Within the ACCH repository, cases were identified by the court case number and the county in which disposition court proceedings occurred. The earliest date of initial arrest for all charges included in a certain case was used as a proxy for the date of arraignment. The latest date of disposition (excluding appellate court dates) listed for a single case was used as the adjudication date. Case processing data received from the ACCH repository includes the following disposition findings: 1) guilty verdicts, 2) nolo contendere pleas, 3) pleas to other charges, 4) deferred sentencing, 5) deferred prosecution, 6) acquittals, 7) court dismissals, and 8) findings of no responsibility due to insanity. Any cases leading to appellate court findings are excluded from analysis since original court dates are overwritten by the appellate court dates in the ACCH repository.

Each fiscal year analyzed is standardized to include the previous ten years of arrest charges. For example, if a case was adjudicated in FY2011, the arrest charges that initiated the case may have occurred between calendar years 2001 to 2010. Previous research conducted by the SAC revealed that 36.4 percent of calendar year 2015 (January 1, 2015 – December 31, 2015) felony arrest charges entered into the ACCH by December 31, 2016 were missing subsequent disposition information.⁴ Therefore, standardizing the data is necessary to assure reliable measurement for trend analyses.

Beginning with the FY2016 Fill the Gap report, all charges associated with the same court case number for a particular defendant were aggregated to create one case. For example, if a defendant's court case consisted of five arrest charges, these charges were aggregated to create one case rather than five individual cases, as had been done in previous reports. This reconstruction of the data was completed to avoid analyzing duplicate information for situations in which multiple charges are applied to one case, and to provide more accurate information on the number of cases adjudicated in a given year. Consequently, data presented in reports prior to FY2016 should not be compared to the data presented in later reports. Additionally, the ACCH analyses do not identify statistics specifically for in-custody versus out of custody defendant cases, and do not account for time delays (e.g., warrant status, court delays, trial continuances, diversion, etc.) that should be excluded from case processing time measures per the rules set by the Arizona Supreme Court. While there are limitations to using ACCH data to analyze case processing times, the data do provide a uniform measurement tool for statistics relating to each county. Thus, the ACCH tables should be used as a conservative estimate to gauge overall changes in case processing times rather than an exact measurement of case processing time frames.

REPORT LAYOUT

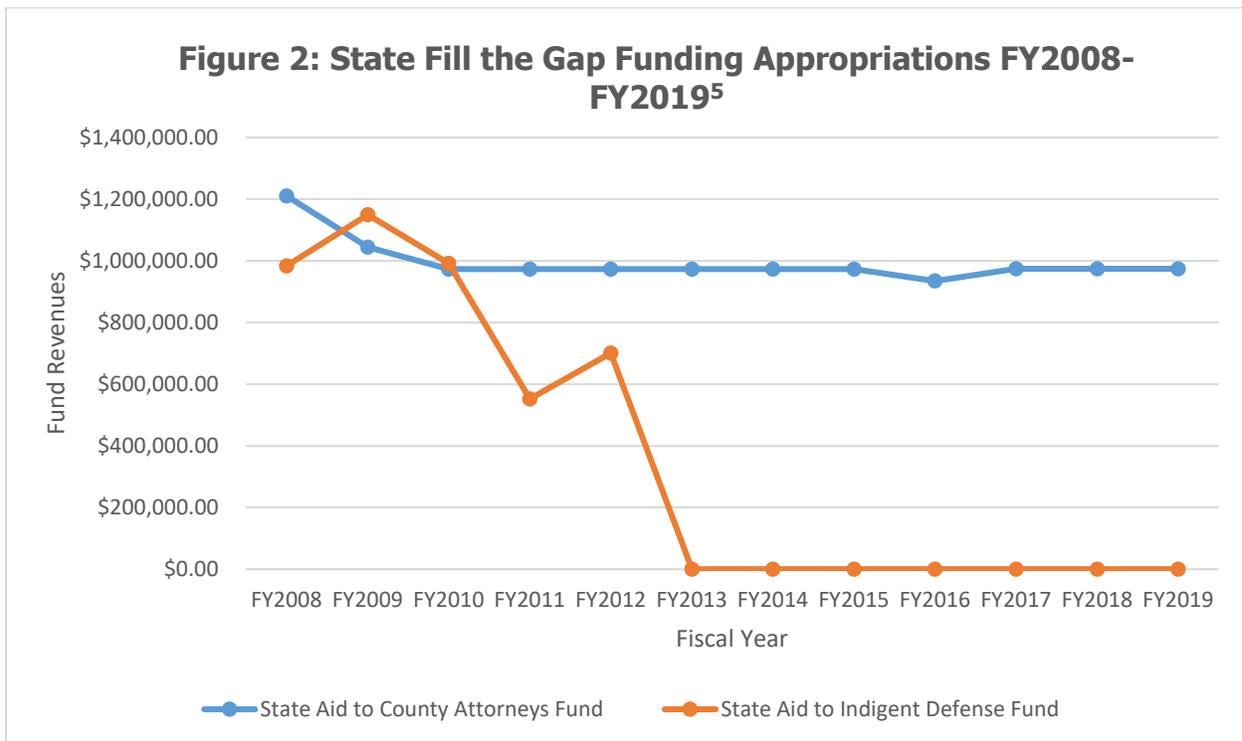

This report is organized into two sections, titled "State Fill the Gap Funding" and "ACCH Repository Data." The first section provides an overview of FY2019 funding from the State Aid to County Attorneys Fund. This overview is followed by county profiles which list brief summaries of balances, allocations, and expenditures to describe how each entity used existing funds to improve case processing times. County profiles also include self-reported case processing statistics and any comments regarding factors affecting case processing within a specific jurisdiction. The second section provides information on the data analyzed from the Arizona Computerized Criminal History (ACCH) repository by the ACJC. ACCH data were analyzed to provide an additional resource for reviewing progress in reducing case processing times.

Appendix A provides a summary of current population estimates for each county as well as each county's estimated population growth. Appendix B provides an overview of the State Fill the Gap allocation changes from FY20010 to FY2019. Appendix C contains both the ACJC's recorded FY2019 FTG fund balances, allocations, funds received, and expenditures by county (Table 50), as well as a summary table of expenditures reported by the County Attorneys' offices (Table 51). Appendix D is a summary list of the reported uses of state FTG funds in FY2019. Appendices E and F include the full text of the Arizona Revised Statutes and Arizona Supreme Court Rules relevant to State FTG funds administered by the ACJC, respectively.

STATE FILL THE GAP FUNDING

History of Fill the Gap Funding

In 2000, Fill the Gap legislation generated funds to help county attorneys, indigent defense agencies, and superior courts reduce case processing times. From FY2000 to FY2009, county attorney agencies and indigent defense agencies received these funds from the Arizona General Fund and Criminal Justice Enhancement Fund (CJEF). In FY2010, monies from the Arizona General Fund were eliminated from State FTG appropriations, while other budgetary cuts reduced the amount of fine revenues allocated to FTG accounts. Due to these adjustments, monies allocated from the State Aid to County Attorneys Fund and State Aid to Indigent Defense Fund decreased from FY2009 to FY2010 (see Figure 2). During the 2011 Arizona legislative session, fine revenues for the indigent defense program were redirected to fund other state efforts. As a result, indigent defense agencies have not received monies from the State Aid to Indigent Defense fund since FY.

⁵ During FY2010, Arizona General Fund appropriations were no longer allocated to the State FTG program. A shortfall in the Arizona budget also caused a reduction in monies distributed to each county. Due to budgetary adjustments, monies in the Indigent Defense Fund have been redirected to support other state programs since FY2012.

State Aid to County Attorneys Fund

In FY2019, the State Aid to County Attorneys Fund balance increased by 0.09 percent from FY2018. County attorney agencies were appropriated a total of $973,700 in FY2019, but only $790,565 was made available and distributed during the fiscal year. Table 1 includes the differences in allocation amounts between FY2018 and FY2019 for each county. The following pages provide the FY2019 fund balances and expenditures reported by each county.

^a The allocation is the distributed revenue based on the statutory formula. These amounts include monies distributed from Quarter 1 through Quarter 4 for each fiscal year regardless of time of receipt.

^b FY2019 totals are those reported to the ACJC by County Attorney's offices. Discrepancies may exist between what an agency reports and ACJC's financial records. Funds disbursed by the ACJC totaled $790,565 (see Appendix C).

State Aid to Indigent Defense Fund

Indigent defense agencies did not receive Fill the Gap funding in FY2019 due to the FY2011 legislative changes previously discussed. In FY2019, monies previously allocated to the State Aid to Indigent Defense Fund were redirected to the Attorney General's Office to fund capital post-conviction prosecutions, as well as to the Department of Public Safety (DPS) for operational costs associated with the Arizona Counter Terrorism Information Center. This report does not include balance and expenditure information for the State Aid to Indigent Defense Fund as the ACJC is no longer responsible for administering this fund.

Apache County

Apache County Attorney's Office

In FY2019, the Apache County Attorney's Office reported using FTG to fund a portion of the maintenance of their case management system to continue to help improve the efficiency in case processing.

As these systems become more operational, the agency predicts that case processing in Maricopa County will become more efficient and streamlined.

Factors that negatively affected case processing in Maricopa County included a high volume of case submittals and strict deadlines set by criminal statute and rules of criminal procedure. The agency also stated that because the electronic submittal process is not fully implemented in all agencies, certain agencies submit cases in hard copy formats, requiring an extra step to scan and store electronically. The agency is in the process of conducting operational studies of internal practices to identify inefficiencies and implement strategic changes as needed.

The County Attorney's Office reported that FTG support for prosecutors positively impacted case processing. Additionally, knowledgeable support staff helped ensure that all work was completed in a timely manner.

Negative factors that affected case processing in Mohave County included staffing issues at the Public Defender's Office, as well as a large increase in filed felony cases. The staffing issues caused the case load to increase and increased case adjudication times.

The County Attorney's Office reported a positive impact on case processing due to its case management system's ability to interface with other agencies, including the public defender's office and law enforcement offices. This interface allows case information to be transferred electronically, speeding up case processing time.

Negative factors that affected case processing in Navajo County included 1) an increase in cases filed from FY2018, leading to more than 120 caseloads for each attorney, 2) budget constraints causing inability to hire additional attorneys, 3) handling of more time consuming, complex cases, causing a backlog in prosecution of these cases, and 4) delay tactics implemented from the defense attorneys, affecting the total number of cases open and closed.

The County Attorney's Office reported collaborating with criminal justice agencies through the Justice Partners group for use of innovative technology. This has allowed for electronic file transfer between several agencies, enhancing prosecution and positively impacting case processing time.

Negative factors that affected case processing in Pima County included 1) an increased case load, 2) an increase in the number of reported crimes, which the County Attorney's Office attributed to population growth and additional law enforcement served by the Office, and 3) the need to hire new personnel in state and local police departments. Pima County reported a higher-than-national average crime rate during CY2018, but a decrease of 9.5% for reported homicides in 2018.

Table 24. Pinal County Attorney's Office Balances and Expenditures of State Fill the Gap Funds FY2019

Pinal County Attorney's Office	$0.00	$50,964.00	$76.53	($51,040.53)	$0.00

The County Attorney's Office reported continued improvement in its relations with law enforcement agencies. The Intake Department, for example, reported that they were able to obtain reports in a timelier manner by establishing lines of communications with various law enforcement agencies.

Negative impacts on case processing in Pinal County were attributed to time constraints. Once a suspect is arrested, the agency has two business days to receive arrest reports from law enforcement agencies, review the report, and determine charges. However, the agency can receive the reports on the final business day, which increases pressure to complete the paperwork within the required timeframe.

Santa Cruz County Attorney's Office	$1,035.59	$4,647.00	$0.00	($5682.59)	$0.00

^a The beginning balance reported by the Santa Cruz County Attorney's Office is different from ACJC records. Discrepancies may occur between what an agency reports and what the ACJC's financial records reflect.

The County Attorney's Office reported that hiring temporary legal assistants created a more efficient and effective case processing system, which positively impacted case processing.

The inability of the current computer operating system to track adjudication time frames was reported as a negative factor influencing case processing in Santa Cruz County. In addition, the agency experienced continuances related to attorney availability, plea negotiations, or disclosure-related issues, which increased case processing times.

The Santa Cruz County Attorney's Office was not able to report case processing statistics for FY2019 because its case management system does not track the required information. The office last reported case processing statistics in FY2010.

^a Due to changes in the report, comparisons should not be made between FY2017's percent and total felony case statistics and previous years' percent and total felony cases statistics. Changes in methodology for the FY2017 report asked counties the percent of cases adjudicated in-custody and out of custody. Some counties did not have a tracking system for in-custody and out of custody filed cases. The counties that reported in-custody and out of custody filed cases can be viewed in Appendix E.

Yavapai County

Yavapai County Attorney's Office

In FY2019, the Yavapai County Attorney's Office reported using FTG funds for salaries and other employee-related expenses for two Litigation Specialists. FTG funds also support Yavapai County Attorney's Office staff who enter and upload case information into the case management system, facilitating expeditious review and disclosure by prosecutors.

Yavapai County Attorney's Office	$0.00	$31,090.00	$0.00	($31,090.00)	$0.00

The County Attorney's Office reported an improvement in case processing times due to 1) appropriate staffing and retention of experienced and quality staff, 2) successful operation of the Early Disposition Court, and 3) the use of a new case management system, which enabled the office to go paperless with the majority of case materials.

Cases were delayed for reasons including 1) additional discovery parties working on a non-trial resolution, 2) parties engaged in discoveries, 3) defense attorneys' failure to appear, 4) filing of new charges, and 5) delays for settlement discussions or evidentiary hearings.

Table 29 reports the felony case processing statistics for the Yavapai County Attorney's Office for FY2015-FY2019.

The County Attorney's Office emphasized the importance of the Investigator position, acknowledging the legal and administrative support the Investigator provides to help reduce case processing times.

Yuma County attributed case processing delays to 1) waiting for disclosure information, 2) service of summons, 3) victims right compliance, 4) scheduling witness interviews, 5) Rule 11 motions and competency restoration, 6) deferred prosecution in specialty courts, and 7) high turnover in defense bars.

ACCH REPOSITORY DATA

To capture data that may be comparable across years, the ACJC SAC analyzed case processing times using data housed in the Arizona Computerized Criminal History (ACCH) repository. This repository is maintained by the Arizona Department of Public Safety (DPS), and is the central repository for all criminal arrest and disposition information recorded in the state. The ACCH was analyzed to determine the percentage of felony cases adjudicated within 180 days of arrest between FY2015 and FY2019. First-degree homicide charges were excluded from the dataset since these cases are not subject to the standardized time frame established in the Arizona Supreme Court Rules of Criminal Procedure. The ACCH data presented in the FY2016 Fill the Gap report and beyond should not be compared to results presented in reports published prior to FY2016 because of a change in methodology (see Research Methods, page 5).

Low completion rates reported for FY2019 may be due to outstanding case findings that have not yet been entered into the ACCH or cases that were entered into the ACCH after the data was extracted from the repository in July 2019, rather than true case processing delays. Furthermore, data received from the ACCH reflect a different timeline than the standard set out by the Supreme Court Rules of Criminal Procedure. As such, information contained in each chart should not be viewed as an exact measurement of case processing time frames, but rather a means to examine trends from a data source in which information is obtained and analyzed in a consistent fashion.

The following sections report ACCH data for the State of Arizona and its counties.

ACCH Case Processing Statistics for the State of Arizona

The State of Arizona has experienced a 13.4 percent decrease in the percentage of felony cases adjudicated within 180 days of arrest between FY2015 and FY2019. As of July 2019, the ACCH data show that the median number of days from arrest to felony adjudication has increased from 195 days in FY2015 to 305 days in FY2019. Due to data limitations, there is a possible lack of comparability to prior years.

CONCLUSION AND RECOMMENDATIONS

In FY2019, County Attorneys received a total of $790,565 in State Fill the Gap (FTG) funds through revenues distributed by the Arizona Criminal Justice Commission (ACJC). This amount is 0.02 percent more than previous allocations. All payments were made on time. Indigent defense agencies did not receive funds during FY2019 and have not received State FTG funds since FY2012. Through previous balances and current awards, county attorneys expended a total of $1,033,091.27 on salaries for permanent and/or temporary staff positions, office equipment and supplies, and maintenance costs for case management systems and other crucial office equipment. Due to changes in the research methodology for the 2017 Fill the Gap report, no information was collected in terms of indigent defense agencies' funds expenditure, as no funds were allocated.

Of the fifteen agencies, only two agencies reported adjudicating over 100% of eligible felony cases within 180 days of filing. Furthermore, data from the Arizona Computerized Criminal History (ACCH) repository reveal that as of July 2019, only 33.1 percent of the 12,234 cases adjudicated in Arizona during FY2019 were finalized within 180 days of arrest. Many agencies acknowledged a number of factors that negatively affected case processing including: 1) increased caseloads; 2) high staff turnover; 3) excessive delays and continuances throughout the criminal justice system; 4) limited resources to pay for operating costs and staff positions; 5) weak relations between, and the lack of coordination among, criminal justice agencies causing delays in receiving necessary case materials; and 6) increased crime rates within the county.

In order to identify operational gaps and improve case processing times within Arizona, the following steps are recommended by the ACJC:

- ❖ Each County Attorney's office should have the capacity to gather consistent and comparable case processing statistics. This information will allow agencies to better identify issues related to case processing within their jurisdiction, and assess progress in meeting the established time standards. Furthermore, the lack of an efficient case management system was identified as a barrier to improving criminal case processing times by many agencies. Therefore, it is suggested that county agencies prioritize Fill the Gap resources to purchase case management systems that will allow for the collection of these data. Stakeholders should also collaborate to standardize definitions in data processing and consider using similar case management systems within their respective jurisdictions. Utilizing the same case management system may ease issues with sending or receiving necessary documents among the agencies, courts, and law enforcement.
- ❖ Many agencies note improvements in case processing time and management from working collaboratively with their local criminal justice agencies (e.g., the Public Defender's Office, law enforcement, and the county courts). This collaborative environment allows agencies to access external databases and information within their networks, which help increase the efficiency of case management. Agencies and stakeholders should continue to determine how to improve working relationships with local criminal justice agencies, so that agencies can collaborate to acquire the information necessary to manage future caseloads.
- ❖ County Attorneys noted that funding resources are essential for sustaining the efficacy of legal operations within their offices. It is recommended that funding resources be made available to provide support for case processing and staffing costs throughout Arizona. This additional resource will aid attempts to improve operational functions that affect case processing times (e.g., transferring to electronic collection systems from paper-based systems, hiring additional staff to assist in processing cases, etc.).

- ❖ The state should allocate funding in the State Aid to Indigent Defense Fund to its statutorily mandated purpose—to indigent defense activities at the county level that will improve case processing times. Systems are only as effective as the least efficient part of the process and continuing to underfund indigent defense will hamper efforts to meet the Arizona Supreme Court’s standards for case processing times. Restoring these resources to their intended purpose will aid indigent defense agencies’ attempts to improve operational functions that affect case processing times (e.g., transferring to electronic collection systems from paper-based systems, hiring additional staff to assist in processing cases).
- ❖ State agencies should have the ability to gather complete and comparable information regarding criminal case processing times. Currently, the Arizona Computerized Criminal History (ACCH) repository is used by the ACJC to supplement agency case processing statistics, and provide an estimate of changes in criminal case processing. Although this repository contains valuable data used to assess trends in case processing from arrest to adjudication, criminal history information within the ACCH is not always complete. The ACJC recommends that all counties develop policies and procedures to ensure that all arrest and disposition information for cases filed within their jurisdiction are submitted to the ACCH in a timely manner and reviewed for accuracy.

APPENDIX F: Arizona Supreme Court Rules Outlining Court Case Processing

Rule 8.1. Priorities in scheduling criminal cases

(a) Priority of Criminal Trials. A trial of a criminal case has priority over a trial of a civil case.

(b) Preferences. The trial of a defendant in custody, and the trial of a defendant whose pretrial liberty may present unusual risks, have preference over other criminal cases.

(c) Duty of the Prosecutor. The prosecutor must advise the court of facts relevant to the priority of cases for trial.

(d) Duty of Defense Counsel. Defense counsel must advise the court of an impending expiration of time limits. A court may sanction counsel for failing to do so, and should consider a failure to timely notify the court of an expiring time limit in determining whether to dismiss an action with prejudice under Rule 8.6.

(e) Suspension of Rule 8. No later than 25 days after a superior court arraignment, either party may move for a hearing to establish extraordinary circumstances requiring a suspension of Rule 8. No later than 5 days after the motion is filed, the court must hold a hearing on the motion and make findings of fact about whether extraordinary circumstances exist that justify the suspension of Rule 8. If the trial court finds that Rule 8 should be suspended, the court must immediately transmit its findings to the Supreme Court Chief Justice. If the Chief Justice approves the findings, the trial court may suspend Rule 8's provisions and reset the trial for a later specified date.

Rule 8.2. Time limits

(a) Generally. Subject to Rule 8.4, the court must try every defendant against whom an indictment, information, or complaint is filed within the following times:

(1) Defendants in Custody. No later than 150 days after arraignment if the defendant is in custody, except as provided in (a)(3).

(2) Defendants out of Custody. No later than 180 days after arraignment if the defendant is released under Rule 7, except as provided in (a)(3).

(3) Defendants in Complex Cases. No later than 270 days after arraignment if the defendant is charged with any of the following:

(A) first degree murder, except as provided in (a)(4);

(B) offenses that will require the court to consider evidence obtained as the result of an order permitting the interception of wire, electronic, or oral communication; or

(C) any case the court determines by written factual findings to be complex.

(4) Capital Cases. No later than 24 months after the date the State files a notice of intent to seek the death penalty under Rule 15.1(i).

(b) Waiver of Appearance at Arraignment. If a defendant waives an appearance at arraignment under Rule 14.3, the date of an arraignment held in the defendant's absence is deemed to be the arraignment date.

(c) New Trial. A trial ordered after a mistrial or the granting of a new trial must begin no later than 60 days after entry of the court's order. A trial ordered upon an appellate court's reversal of a judgment must begin no later than 90 days after the appellate court issues its mandate. A new trial ordered by a state court under Rule 32 or a federal court under collateral review must begin no later than 90 days after entry of the court's order.

Rule 8.4. Excluded Periods

(a) Generally. Delays caused or resulting from the following time periods are excluded from the time computations set forth in Rules 8.2 and 8.3:

- (1) those caused by or on behalf of the defendant, whether or not intentional or willful, including, but not limited to, delays caused by an examination and hearing to determine competency or intellectual disability, the defendant's absence or incompetence, or the defendant's inability to be arrested or taken into custody in Arizona;
- (2) A remand for a new probable cause determination under Rules 5.5 or 12.9;
- (3) A time extension for disclosure under Rule 15.6;
- (4) trial calendar congestion, but only if the congestion is due to extraordinary circumstances, in which case the presiding judge must promptly apply to the Supreme Court Chief Justice to suspend Rule 8 or any other Rule of Criminal Procedure;
- (5) Continuances granted under Rule 8.5;
- (6) joinder for trial with another defendant for whom the time limits have not run, if good cause exists for denying severance, but in all other cases, severance should be granted to preserve the applicable time limits; and
- (7) The setting of a transfer hearing under Rule 40.

(b) Excluding Time after a Finding of Competency or Restoration. If a court finds that a defendant is competent, has been restored to competency, or is no longer absent, and if the finding is made within 30 days of when the time limits in Rules 8.2 and 8.3 will otherwise expire, the court must exclude an additional 30 days in computing the time limits under those rules.

Rule 8.5. Continuing a Trial Date

(a) Motion. A party may ask to continue trial by filing a motion stating the specific reasons for the request.

(b) Grounds. A court may continue trial only on a showing that extraordinary circumstances exist and that delay is indispensable to the interests of justice, and only for so long as is necessary to serve the interests of justice. The court must consider the rights of the defendant and any victim to a speedy disposition of the case. The court must state specific reasons for continuing trial
